Considerations for Deliberation - 1

1. The current CAP "New Corporate" uniform consisting of dark blue trousers, white aviator shirt was approved by NB in March 2006.
2. However, this uniform was not properly vetted and approved by the U.S. Air Force.
3. Through many steps, the CAP has developed several combinations of uniforms, which sometimes creates confusion relating to the various articles approved for wear. Having so many combinations of uniforms to wear has proved financially burdensome on members who try to stay current with the proper uniform regulation standards.

Considerations for Deliberation - 2

4. Many CAP members have expressed a desire to reduce our uniform inventory to a more manageable level.
5. CAP-USAF has suggested that CAP reduce our uniform inventory to a manageable level. Suggestions include two service types of uniforms, to include the current Air Force style uniform, and an approved corporate uniform consisting of the grey slacks/white shirt/blue blazer combination currently worn by CAP members who do not wish to or may not wear the USAF style.
6. In an effort to facilitate these requests expeditiously and to comply with the request from the USAF, the NEC chose to remove the CAP "New Corporate" uniform from the CAP inventory at its November 2009 meeting. A "phase out" date of January 2011 was imposed.

Considerations for Deliberation - 3

7. Although this action was out of the routine, members of the NEC felt that there was urgency to this issue and made the decision to respond.
8. As the Air Force Auxiliary, the CAP must work "in partnership" with the Air Force, and maintain a working relationship that is positive and advantageous for both parties. Therefore, the CAP has the responsibility to continuously strive to improve ourselves, recognize our failures of the past, and move forward in a professional manner.
9. Members may continue to wear the black "Cooper" style jacket with the white shirt/grey slacks and blue blazer combination, and cadets may now wear the white shirt/grey slack and blue blazer)combination also.
