

IF YOU FLY BUT DON'T LIKE MEETINGS AND UNIFORMS JOIN THE CIVIL AIR PATROL

We've got the guys to sound the alert calls. To handle the radios. To direct the missions. To make up the ground rescue teams.

But we don't have enough guys to fly the planes.

So we've started a whole new thing here at the Civil Air Patrol to get more pilots to join.

It's called the General Aviation Membership, and it works like this.

If you're a licensed pilot, you can join us without having to wear a uniform or go to a single meeting. Just give us a couple of hours in seminars to show you how we fly our search patterns.

So you can become a part of an organized team that knows how to locate downed planes. (Even if you're not a licensed pilot, we can still use you as an observer or a ground crew member.)

And we promise: no meetings, no uniforms, unless you want them. Just a chance to be a hero. And you don't get a chance like that too often these days.

For the name of the closest squadron to you, call toll-free number 800-553-9550. In Iowa, call 319-242-1867 collect.

The New Civil Air Patrol

Maxwell Air Force Base, Alabama, 36112.

Sign me up in your new General Aviation membership. I understand that there are no meetings, no uniforms unless I want them. I am over 18, a U.S. citizen, and my check is enclosed.

- ☐ One-year membership, eighteen bucks.
- ☐ Two-year membership, thirty bucks.
- ☐ Five-year membership, seventy five bucks.
- ☐ I can't spare the couple of hours, but I want to help anyway.

Here's my check for at least eighteen bucks.
